KGL Holding donates to Kuwait Science Club

KGL Holding handed a monetary donation to the Kuwait Science Club on Sept 23, in line with its Corporate Citizenship program and its commitment to supporting the club's academic endeavor and scientific undertakings especially of young scientists and members.

The check was handed by KGL Holding Communication & PR Manager Saqer Al-Rashoud to Dr Adam Al-Mulla, Kuwait Science Club General Manager. Dr Al-Mulla outlined that the Kuwait Science Club aims at discovering, supporting and honing the talents of the youth and encouraging them to invest their time in productive scientific work. He called on its club members to be more innovative in their scientific undertaking. Dr Al-Mulla thanked KGL Holding for its kind gesture in supporting the scientific endeavor of the club as he cited KGL Holding as one of the leading companies that has shown strong support in developing the talents of the youth and encouraging them to delve into the new horizon of various scientific fields.

The Kuwait Science Club founded in 1974 is a non-profit organization aimed at promoting the wonderful world of science among the people in Kuwait, introducing them to various scientific developments and sharpening their scientific skills.
